

MEETINGS
AND
COURSES29 June - 6 July
Trieste, ItalyPractical Course “Bioinformatics: Computer Methods in Molecular Biology”*Organiser

Sándor Pongor (ICGEB, Trieste, Italy)

Faculty

Martin Bishop (UK HGMP Research Centre, Cambridge, UK)

Peter Cooper (NCBI, Bethesda, MD, USA)

Elisabeth Gasteiger (Swiss Institute of Bioinformatics, Geneva, Switzerland)

Robert Harper (EMBL-EBI, Cambridge, UK)

David Judge (University of Cambridge, UK)

Jack Leunissen (University of Nijmegen, The Netherlands)

Luciano Milanesi (ITBA/CNR, Milan, Italy)

Kristian Vlahovicek (ICGEB, Trieste, Italy)

Assistant

Dario Palmisano (ICGEB, Trieste, Italy)

Topics

- Electronic mail, bulletin boards
- Molecular biology databases
- Computer communications, networking, file transfer
- Sequence homology searches, alignments
- Sequence patterns, distant protein homologies
- Genome projects

Participants

Participants must have a basic working knowledge of biochemistry and molecular biology, a basic familiarity with computer uses and a need for DNA or protein sequence analysis for their ongoing research. Preference will be given to Ph.D students and junior scientists below the age of 35 years. Registration for the Course is limited to 30 participants.

Closing date for applications

30 March 2001

Funding

Nationals of ICGEB Member States* who are selected to participate will receive their accommodation (twin share) and local hospitality for the duration of the course; travel is NOT funded. Please note that there is no registration fee.

Contact

Submit your application form, curriculum vitae and a short list of publications (if any) to:

Programme and Training Unit, ICGEB, Padriciano 99, 34012 Trieste, Italy.

Tel: +39-040-3757333; Fax: +39-040-226555; E-mail: courses@icgeb.trieste.it

ICGEB Member States

Afghanistan, Algeria, Argentina, Bangladesh, Bhutan, Brazil, Bulgaria, Chile, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Côte d'Ivoire, Croatia, Cuba, Ecuador, Egypt, FR Yugoslavia, Hungary, India, Iraq, Italy, Kuwait, Macedonia, Mauritius, Mexico, Morocco, Nigeria, Pakistan, Panama, Peru, Poland, Romania, Russia, Senegal, Slovakia, Slovenia, Sri Lanka, Sudan, Tunisia, Turkey, Uruguay, Venezuela, Viet Nam.

